Here lie the remains of a driver who thought he could drink and still drive a car. Racing down the highway at a dangerous speed, his car swerved off the edge of the pavement, dragged on the sandy shoulder, and was crumpled into a spin. Drunken drivers are potential murderers of every other motorist who comes near them on the road. They were involved in more than 5,000 fatal accidents last year. National Conservation Bureau safety specialists say even one or two drinks slow up reactions, make judgment unsafe, increase chances of accident three to four times.

District Meet
Of 4-H Club
Here July 24-26

Statesboro will be host July 24-26 to one of six district project achievement meetings being sponsored by the Georgia 4-H Club. The project meetings are being held to select district representatives to the state 4-H Club Congress which will be held in Atlanta this fall, according to W. A. Sutton, state club leader.

The achievement meetings, Mr. Sutton said, will assemble county champions in various 4-H club projects. These county winners will give demonstrations at the district meetings and the best demonstrators will be selected to represent their district. State winners will, in some projects, receive free trips to the National 4-H Club Congress in Chicago.

"While some of the projects carry cash awards, bonds, free trips and college scholarships, the real objective of the 4-H project achievement meetings is to build the character of the members," Mr. Sutton declared. "A member taking part in one of these meetings learns to stand before a crowd and learn to think while standing. We believe such activities help to promote character development and citizenship."

Projects open to senior girls include interior paint, public speaking, rural electrification, bread, health, home improvement, egg marketing, dress revue, dairy foods, rifle and forestry. Senior boys may take part in projects in livestock, exterior paint, public speaking, rural electrification, health, egg marketing, sweet potatoes, dairy production, rifle, forestry and farm fence.

Demonstrations open to junior members are dress revue, public speaking, muffs and home improvement.

The winner and runner-up will each be awarded an evening dress and a bathing suit and a tour to Columbus, where they will participate in the contest to name "Miss Georgia." The winner in Columbus will go to Atlantic City, N. J., to take part in the "Miss America" contest.

With all 12 graduates passing the exam, the Pharmacy school's record remains unbroken, since no graduate has ever failed the state examination since examinations began in 1908, according to Dr. R. C. Wilson, dean of the school.

Miss Jo Ann Trappell, of Statesboro, was one of twelve graduates of the University of Georgia School of Pharmacy to pass the state examination given recently in Atlanta.

A Verse For This Week

The loss of a friend is like that of a limb. Time may heal the anguish of the wound, but the loss cannot be repaired.—Southey.

Forward, Statesboro

Day by day, slowly but surely, Statesboro is moving ahead. We have needed to move for a long time. During the war we were too busy to think about progress. Now we can—and we are.

Let's have a look at a few of the things we are doing.

We have nearly finished a new wing on our hospital. This will provide some twenty-five new rooms which are most urgently needed. It will give more space for the normal operation of the hospital. It will give us more opportunity for better health in our community.

We are ready to begin construction on a long-needed swimming pool. The pool project was passed about for several years from one set of hands to another. Everybody made plans but nobody acted. Now the Junior Chamber of Commerce seems to have stopped passing and started acting. Bids for actual construction will be in within a week and it looks as if we are going to get a pool. Perhaps it won't be ready for use this summer, but it's built and ready next spring a lot of kids will be happy—as well as we older folks.

We have organized a "Teen-Age Canteen" that really works. It provides wholesome recreation for the young people. The canteen isn't just organized play. It serves a need which has long been felt but has never been provided for. We have allowed our children to grow up with a lack of places to go for entertainment. The "Teen-Age Canteen" has helped that and if we keep it going it will surely help more as time goes by.

We have financed and built a modern baseball diamond and have a Statesboro team that keeps the grandstand full. Those empty seats too busy to think about progress. Now we can—and we are.

Highways For Motorists

Let's give our highways back to the automobile.

If you have ever driven on a highway in Bulloch county at night you can't help but agree. Through Bulloch county we have three main highways which handle a large volume of traffic. At this season of the year tourist traffic is particularly heavy, bringing much business to our community.

But our cows are turning motorists away. And we don't blame the motorists a bit.

Highways are made—at a large cost to you and to me—to provide a reasonably safe and rapid means of transportation from one point to another. We spend much money and time in planning them so as to eliminate natural hazards such as bad curves or intersections. We make laws to give one vehicle the right of way and allow it to proceed at a legal rate of speed without stopping for vehicles entering from other roads.

We spend money for warning signs, for traffic lights, for building new and safer bridges.

We spend money to repair holes in the road and repair worn pavement.

Yet we let our cattle roam the highways day and night. We let them lie on the highways, almost invisible, even from a short distance.

We let them kill and injure just as surely as if we put unmarked and almost invisible road-blocks in the highway.

Highways are not safe. They are far too unsafe even under ordinary driving conditions. But add the cattle and they become a menace without equal.

When meeting another automobile at night the motorist drives wholly upon his faith, for it is impossible to see more than a few feet ahead. The darkness and glare of approaching lights is almost like a challenge saying "See if you can go ahead—and live."

Not many nights ago, on a highway within ten miles of Statesboro, one car met another at night. Unseen by both drivers a cow stood in the road. In order to miss the cow the driver of one auto had to drive off his side onto the side of the approaching car, barely missing both cow and auto.

A driver following was not so lucky. He swerved and missed the cow but was struck broadside by the oncoming auto. Luckily, no one was seriously hurt. But this was a close miracle for it could have easily been worse.

The Almanac Says the Weather This Week On...

TODAY, THURSDAY, July 10, will be fair.

FRIDAY, July 11, will be rainy with thunder.

SATURDAY, July 12, will be sultry.

SUNDAY, July 13, will be clearing with winds.

TUESDAY, July 14, will be clearing with winds.

WEDNESDAY, July 15, will be cooler, with some rain.

... But Don't Blame Us If the Almanac Is Wrong!

THE "GRAND AND GLO-RI-ous" FOURTH OF JULY passed for us with "nary a bang." The Herald staff took a long week and gave the "Fourth" to give everybody some semblance of a vacation. From Thursday through Sunday isn't too long, but it is enough to give you a Herald last week and get a day or so off for yourselves.

Running a newspaper is a little different from any other business. Subscribers pay to get a paper every week and we like to give them one every time. These youngsters need wholesome athletics set up especially for them. Through this team they combine fun and activity that builds health. We need to continue this with other sports through the year.

We have opened up the Bur-ton's Ferry route from Baltimore to Florida. Tourists fill our streets every day, bringing money to our merchants. One reliable estimate this week end said more than 600 cars passed through Statesboro during one day. This is something we have never been able to say. We haven't stopped here.

We are paving streets, enlarging our sewerage system. We are building new homes by the dozens. We are moving ahead. We need new grandstands for our football field. We can use a lot more hospital space, even with the new wing. We have a lot more sidewalks that need paving as well as new streets.

We could improve our bus and train service. We can use an air-line. We can use more industries. But we are moving ahead. And that's encouraging.

Forward, Statesboro!

Fun at Home Good Books Are True Friends

By Margaret Charters Lyon
Boys and Girls: Read this to yourselves! Try it for yourselves!

If you go to the college any afternoon a little before two, you will see a row of bicycles outside the gym. The owners are inside the building changing to swimming suits. Cars drive up letting out a load of children; boys and girls come walking up the road. On each week day from two until three the College pool is open to outsiders. School children pay 10 cents, grown ups 25 cents. Max Lockwood is swimming teacher and the lifeguard. He takes a personal interest in each young swimmer.

The Regional Library reports that there are over a hundred members of the Vacation Reading Club, and that nearly a dozen children already have stars for reading the required number of books.

Did you know that the City Dairy Company is one of the largest dairies in Georgia? It may not have the biggest machines, but the milk has as much rich butterfat and as few germs as you will find anywhere. Our exploring trip this week is a visit to the plant on West Main to see how milk is pasteurized and ice cream is made.

A big can of milk just in from the country is poured into a separator. The cream is set aside to be pasteurized and put in bottles for sale. The skimmed milk goes into a big tank with hot walls, the pasteurizing machine. The milk sloshes around in there for half an hour while the germs are being killed. Then it is sucked up a pipe to the cooling machine. It pours in a thin sheet over cold pipes back into a tube that carries it to the bottle.

Each week we have more news than we can print. If you call and give us some news we'll do our best to print it if we believe it to be of interest. We appreciate your calling very much. But many times we just don't have enough space to go around, so don't feel badly if we have to leave out your item occasionally.

We want you to tell us about what is happening. We appreciate your interest. But forgive us if it is n't always printed.

STATESBORO IS GETTING SET for the tobacco market to open. The date has been set for July 24—Thursday. This will be a little early for a lot of our tobacco growers but, in spite of the early crops and early markets, we still believe it will be a good season.

Sometimes we have to leave out things we would ordinarily print because we only have a certain amount of space available in each week's paper. We make an effort to print local news before we print "foreign" news and we try to make certain we never print anything just to "fill up space." We believe our readers would rather have white space than something that is of no interest.

DIFFERENT TYPES of news appeals to different people, however. Some readers would like to see every page of the Herald filled with society. Some readers would like pages of baseball news.

"LOOK TO THE POLAR STAR" by Helene Cabell. A book in a million. Literally, it has everything—romance, mystery, intrigue, plot and counter-plot—plus some very good discussion of Chinese art. It is not, as I thought from the title, a book on Antarctica, but a long, exciting novel, dealing with American intelligence officers in China during the time that the Japanese were in Washington discussing peace treaties—namely, just before Pearl Harbor.

Farjohn and Ryall, American intelligence men, are trying to locate Lewis Teigne, a missionary and teacher, who is suspected of being either in the pay of the Japs or else pretending to be Chinese. When they reach the village he has disappeared and no one will tell them anything about him. He is supposed to have been in his possession a Chinese seal, by which they can identify him.

On their return to Shanghai, they are arrested by the Japs for questioning. At police headquarters they meet von Hanau, who remains a figure of mystery until the very last. They are released, with a warning. Ryall visits a friend, Armin, an art dealer, who is investing heavily in Chinese bronzes and paintings (small things that will not take up much space in a ship). In case war is declared between Japan and America, he intends to make a fortune. Von Hanau turns up here and a suspected German spy, Schanno, along with the mysterious Mr. Tao.

Ryall is ordered to meet the ship on which Teigne's daughter, Alles, is arriving, and to guard her. This becomes imperative after an attempt is made on her life. In order to keep her occupied, Armin puts on an exhibition, the proceeds to go to charity. The last night of the show they are all invited to a Chinese-style dinner by Mr. Tao.

They are attacked by the servant and Mr. Tao identifies himself as a Japanese. After a furious fight they make their escape through alleys and back streets.

The next day Ryall is called to Japanese headquarters to identify a body which they imply is Teigne. He has been badly burned, but in it is done, a man fills Dixie cups spite of that, a copy of the seal or print books and puts them in a safe. He is Chinese from the fore-gave each of us a cup filled fresh from the machine, and it really him highly unpopular with the was good. All visitors who want Japanese. The body is recognized to make a trip through the dairy as that of Ta-Liu, brother of a guerrilla general.

Ryall secures passage for Alles on an American ship, but the next morning when he calls for her she has disappeared. Farjohn believes that she is with Chinese friends of her father but, nevertheless, they try to trail her.

The search leads them through all sorts of adventures—capture by Mr. Tao, and rescue by guerrilla—until they locate Alles with General Liu's army. General Liu is supposed to meet Japanese leaders in order to make a treaty with them but, suspecting treachery, makes plans accordingly. The Japs bring with the body of Liu's brother, whom they claim was murdered by Chungking terrorists, and Teigne's seal, which they say was found in the ashes of Teigne's home, which, finally proves that Teigne is dead.

General Liu's suspicions of treachery are well founded and in fighting the Japs (in which the Chinese are victorious von Hanau is fatally wounded. He has a short time before identified himself as an American from Wisconsin, and it is understood also that he is an intelligence agent.

The story ends with General Liu's army again on the march, Ryall, Alles and Farjohn traveling with them.

"THE GOOD CROP"—by Elizabeth H. Emerson. A story of a Quaker family in Illinois, during the Civil War.

"MYSTERY OF THE WEEK": "TERROR IN THE TOWN"—by Edward Rouns.

This story is all that the title implies. Murder strikes the little town of Easterly, and suspicion falls on a poor, dull-witted fisherman. The main question in the minds of the townspeople are: Who searched so frantically after the town libraries? What is the secret of the old whaling vessel? And the heroine's own question—is her husband involved?

This rates an "A" on plot, background, motive and characterization.

"MISS AGATHA DOUBLES FOR DEATH"—by H. L. V. Fletcher. In different vein from the above, above mystery reviewed above, but no less interesting.

Miss Agatha's cousin, Ann, (and her heirs) has her doubts concerning the person who will inherit in case of her death, and consults Miss Agatha. Here we have the murderer in the first chapter, but the problem is to prove it, which is done very neatly.

Verdict: Very good, in an out-of-the-ordinary way. Visit the Public Library.

Plumes of crepe myrtle, both pink and white

Are now in full bloom—a lovely sight.

AND I BELIEVE the deepest pink and the loveliest white myrtles are those that practically embrace Lem and Eula Zetterow's home on Mulberry Street.

The watermelon-pink variety is to be seen on every street, but the white ones are rarer. Velvet red giant zinnias mark one border of Malvina Trussell's smoothly-cropped lawn. Full-blown red roses helped brighten the week end on the Leroy Tyson's lawn.

And gay petunias gave a wealth of color at T. J. Morris', Lehman Franklin's and Sara Franklin's homes on College Boulevard. But a green green a V McFPH with a green retreat that tempted me with comfortable lawn chairs was on the south side of Josh Zetterow's home.

EVA LEE NEVILLS and daughter, Marilyn, were all set for a wonderful vacation in Chattanooga with Major and Mrs. Michael Lash, but a sudden military order sent their prospective hosts to Denver, Colorado, so there they were in Atlanta. Back home again, they plan this time to go to the beach.

OF INTEREST to mothers of tiny tots was the Kiddie's Fashion Revue at Katie Lou Anderson's Thursday afternoon. The kind of clothes you mothers have been waiting for were modeled by a group of tomorrow's debutantes with mothers, doing grandmothers and friends as an appreciative audience. The dresses shown were designed and made by "Katy's Kiddie Clothes."

Put Lamb, a modest young brunette, were pink batiste with eyelid trim. Blond Ann Thayer painted her face with white eyelid pique.

Edna Mae Benmark wore white batiste with red dots, trimmed with ruffles.

Carol Groover came out in a yellow broadcloth with brown applique trim and novelty brown buttons.

After the fashion revue we all slipped punch and viewed the baby dainties and gifts in the home shop and thought, "My, what a smart and talented woman!"

NOTE FROM Atlanta Journal society briefs: "Mrs. Hinton Booth, of Statesboro, is the guest of Mrs. W. A. Byers in West End and was honored Thursday at a tea given by Mrs. Frank Cundell at her home on Fifteenth Street.

VETERANS CORNER

(Veterans wishing further information than is contained in the below questions and answers may have their questions personally answered by visiting Jack Biles, VA Contact Representative at 21½ East Main Street in Statesboro.)

Does the loan guaranty program last indefinitely? Should a loan under the G. I. Bill, must be made arrangements for entrance? How much longer can a veteran reinstate National Service Life Insurance without physical examination?

Those are just a few of the varied questions that come in every day to contact representatives of the Veterans Administration. Here are the answers:

Q. I am a World War II veteran and plan to go to school under the G. I. Bill for the first time next fall. When should I arrange for my entrance into school?

A. You should arrange for entrance into college or other institution of learning at the earliest possible moment.

Q. How much longer can a World War II veteran reinstate National Service Life Insurance without a physical examination?

A. N. S. L. I term policies may be reinstated without physical examination until August 1. Veterans who have let their policies lapse may reinstate by signing a comparative health statement and paying two monthly premiums.

Q. What benefits, other than subsistence allowance, is a veteran entitled to while pursuing a course of instruction under the G. I. Bill or under the Vocational Rehabilitation Act?

A. The VA will pay for his tuition, books, supplies, fees, and other authorized expenses within certain limitations. A disabled veteran may receive a pension or compensation and subsistence allowance concurrently.

Loan applications of Georgia veterans are currently being received at the rate of 75 a day, Mr. Biles said.

Twenty Scholarships in Agriculture Will Be Awarded FFA and 4-H

Twenty livestock scholarships, by Sears Roebuck Company, valued at $100 each, will be given Future Farmers of America members and 4-H club boys who wish to enter the University of Georgia College of Agriculture in September. This was the announcement made this week Dean Paul W. Chapman of the University.

The awards will be based on scholarship character, leadership and general progress in work done in high school as members of FFA chapters or 4-H clubs. To be eligible for the award, each entrant must write a story and submit a summary report of his projects of poultry or livestock, according to the College of Agriculture head.

Application blanks may be secured by writing to Dean Chapman at the College of Agriculture. All applications for scholarships must be submitted by July 1, and all winners will be notified of their selection soon thereafter.

Dean Chapman emphasized that any boy who has studied vocational agriculture or participated in 4-H club project work in Georgia is eligible to enter an application for consideration by the judges.

Only one winner will be selected from any particular county.

New Injunction

In Liquor Fight

A new development Friday in the attempt to call a "wet or dry" liquor election in Bulloch county postponed any decisive action on the question until July 25, and required the Ordinary to make a check of the petition for an election presented by the "dry" forces.

Arguments on an injunction granted three weeks ago which prevented the Ordinary from calling an election were scheduled to be heard before Judge Mel Price, of the Atlanta Judicial Circuit, in Ludowick Friday morning.

Judge J. L. Renfro of the Ogeechee Circuit Superior court had previously disqualified himself and placed the case in Judge Price's hands.

The original temporary injunction, granted to the Bulloch County Association for Legal Control, was granted on grounds that the petition was merely a random collection of signatures and did not constitute a true petition. Arguments as to whether this temporary injunction should be made permanent and the petition disqualified were scheduled to be heard Friday but an amendment to the original petition was presented to Judge Price, who postponed the hearing until July 25.

The amendment, filed by W. G. Neville, attorney for the Association for Legal Control, asked for a further restraint on grounds that the petition list was not checked with or against the list of qualified registered voters of Bulloch county. The amendment went on to point out that the Board of Registrars checked the petition only for the number of signatures and did not check the names to see if all were qualified voters.

It said, in part that "... it was not determined that the names ... were those of bona fide qualified, registered voters of said county ... and the petition (of the dry interests) as filed was not checked for errors, mistakes or duplication ..."

The complaint went on to say that the cards which compose the petition were "mailed without supervision and without any reliable person to vouch for the genuineness or authenticity of the signatures." It further stated that "the method was capable of being abused and susceptible to fraud."

The plea for granting the new restraining order was made up on the grounds as stated above and also that "the said certificate (of the Board of Registrars) saying the petition contained the proper amount of signatures as required by law is not sufficient in law and equity."

Upon signing the second temporary restraining order, Judge Price set the new date as July 25 at 10:30 a. m. at Ludowick. He also instructed the Ordinary of Bulloch county to make a complete check of the petition presented by the dry force and to make a report to him as to whether the names therein were those of qualified voters.

The Ordinary, F. I. Williams, said a survey of the names would begin this week in compliance with Judge Price's order.

TOBACCO Market Opening

THE BULLOCH HERALD

DEDICATED TO THE PROGRESS OF STATESBORO AND BULLOCH COUNTY

VOLUME VII Statesboro, Georgia, Thursday, July 17, 1947 Number 35

Georgia's Largest Tobacco Market To Open Thursday July 24 With Two Sets Of Buyers

When the famous chant of the tobacco auctioneer begins here July 24th for the twentieth annual season, Statesboro will have already sold over 89,000,000 pounds of the bright, golden leaf, and observers predict this season will carry the mark well over 100,000,000 pounds.

Statesboro will have available to the tobacco growers of this section 470,530 square feet of tobacco warehouse floor space. This is equivalent to eight sales floors or warehouses figured at 60,000 square feet to the warehouse.

A breakdown of floor space shows that the three warehouses of Cobb and Foxhall contain 180,000 square feet of selling facilities; Sheppard and Sheppard and Brannen, with two warehouses, have 220,530 square feet of selling facilities, equivalent to three and two-thirds full warehouses; and the Statesboro Tobacco Warehouse contains 70,000 square feet of marketing facilities.

Major regulations governing market operation will be carried out here again this year. These regulations include a limit on the size of pits at 250 pounds, a sales speed of not more than 400 piles per hour; and a selling day of from 9:30 a. m. to 3:30 p. m., with an hour for lunch.

A review of the sales on the market here since 1942 shows that in 1942, the first year of World War II, the Statesboro market sold 4,000,000 pounds of tobacco for $1,211,858 to average $29.91. The sales for 1943 were 7,552,768 pounds to average $37.75 per hundred. In 1944 the sales jumped to 9,028,655 pounds to average $34.80 per hundred, and in 1945 sales topped the ten million mark when 10,184,984 pounds sold for $3,257,778 to average $38.34 per hundred.

Sales in 1946 reached the highest total since the opening of the market. 14,458,456 pounds of the golden leaf brought growers an average of $41.10, the highest average since the market has been in operation.

Commenting on this year's crop, Byron Dyer, Bulloch county agent, said the crop was "above normal." He predicted that sales would fall short of the 1946 figure and be in the neighborhood of ten or eleven million pounds.

Mr. Dyer said the crop was more spotted than last year and the quality of the leaf might not be as good in places, but he went on to point out that the 1946 season was an unusually good one.

Expenses of the group are borne by the Legion Post and the equipment is furnished by them.
